When residents, stakeholders and governments at all levels are actively involved in co-creating their community, it strengthens civic pride and commitment to making The Township of Cramahe the municipality of choice where people can grow, work, play and learn together.

By engaging the Cramahe community, we allow for responsible decision-making through a range of perspectives, experience, and knowledge and we share ideas in ways that support learning and creation of sustainable solutions.

Achieving the greatest results through engagement requires many different ways of engaging people to tap into innovation and ideas that exists within our community; understanding the decision making process; and understanding how input from resident's influences end results.
